Oriol Artigas

Beier dels Bardissots 2016

Oriol Artigas, an Alella native and trained enologist, started his project of making non-interventionist wines in 2011. He currently farms a total of 7.5 hectares of mostly old head-pruned vineyards and produces a wide array of wines. From a “village” white wine based off the Pansa Blanca grape, to single parcel blancos, rosats & tintos; the color of the wine depends on the parcel, as Oriol will co-ferment white and red grapes if they grow together. The results are some of the most exciting Vins Catalans being produced today.

The vineyards of DO Alella are essentially the vineyards of Barcelona, located just north of the city along the coast of the Mediterranean. The region dates back to Roman times, with two main vineyard areas, one on the coast around the comarca of Maresme, and the other a bit inland around Vallés. The primary soil type is a kind of white granite, locally called Sauló, and the main grape grown here is Pansa Blanca (the local clone of Xarel-lo) with a whole slew of other grape varieties inter-planted as well. The region produces a wide variety of wines from sparkling to sweet and once enjoyed an illustrious reputation, but the demand for real estate has slowly whittled the vineyard plantings down to just over 220 hectares in total, making Alella one of the smallest DOs in Spain.

Beier dels Belissots is 100% Beier from the west-facing Can Perdiu vineyard northeast of Barcelona (Oriol believes it’s the only Beier vineyard left in Catalunya). The grapes were hand-harvested and whole-cluster macerated for 7 days before pressing to tank. The wine was wild yeast fermented and raised on the lees for 10 months before being bottled without fining, filtration or added SO₂. This is a high-toned red wine, almost dark rosé in color, with a very pretty & floral nose, and a palate that is exploding with fresh minerality and zingy spice.
